

Acknowledgment

I feel an immense gratitude to my advisor, Professor Margaret Yang MAR, for her valuable guidance in writing this M. A. dissertation. Although I had to stop in the middle of my writing to go to the United States of America to further study my English for one year, she did not give me up. She continued to encourage me to study hard and to show me how to use reference books while I was in U.S.A. In spite of her daily busy schedule, she still met me regularly to advise and proofread my writing with her academic and practical knowledge. Without her patient guidance and inspiring suggestions, I could never finish this dissertation.

I also want to thank to my dear parents and younger brother who have always been with me and gave me support no matter what happened. Sometimes, they had to comfort me when I was in a depressed mood and could not proceed with my writing. Lastly, I want to express my thanks to my dear friend, Renie Lu who accompanied me during this period.

Pei-Hsin Liu

April 2009