

Title of thesis: The Study of Verbs for the First Level Test of Russian

Key words: Russian verbs, description of the verbs, the practical course of Russian language, the tables, exercises

Name of Institute: Graduate Institute of Russian Language and Literature, Chinese Culture University

Total pages: 181

Graduate date: 29, Dec 2008

Degree conferred: Master

Name of student: Huang Yu-Fei

Advisor: Laskareva E.P.

Abstract:

Verb phrase is the core of a sentence; therefore we consider this part in the theory and practice of teaching Russian as a foreign language is the top priority. The purpose of this thesis is to master Russian verbs in the scope of First Level Test of Russian as a foreign language and provide a systemic description of verbs.

This thesis consists of an introduction, four chapters, a conclusion and a bibliography. The first chapter of this section is about the linguistic methodological basis of the description of verbs, mentions the theoretical foundations of the isolation and description of the studied group of verbs, and contains three paragraphs: Basic linguistic concepts used in the thesis, Basic methodological concepts used in the thesis, Construction of the scheme describe verbs, presented in thesis.

The titles of the second chapter and other chapters: “Russian Verbs: The Elementary Level of Russian as A Foreign Language”, “Russian verbs: The Base Level of Russian as A Foreign Language”, “Russian Verbs: The First Level of Russian as A Foreign Language”.